

Maths in my workplace

'Maths in my workplace' is a 6 week programme, which starts with a one-day workshop.

If you're an employer with staff who don't yet have a Level 2 maths qualification, we'll work with you to identify the skills your team needs to increase productivity and drive efficiencies by equipping people with numeracy skills they need to succeed.

Every week team members will recognise new ways to increase their productivity, time management and how to use numbers with confidence in the workplace.

Designed to boost confidence in the use of numbers in the workplace, this programme will increase your ability to:

- identify specific numeracy skills required in the workplace
- increase confidence with numbers for those needing to move towards formal numeracy qualifications
- increase productivity and feel confident teams are working effectively

Our sessions are structured yet fun
